Gold Rush! returns - modern version of the classic Sierra adventure announced

Cologne, December 16, 2013 – Sunlight Games, a developer of computer and video games based in Cologne, Germany, announced today it will release a remake of "Gold Rush!", a cult adventure of the 1980s, in late 2014. As a teaser, the celebrated original version of the game will be available at the beginning of next year.

Sunlight Games GmbH is going to publish a full remake of the classic Sierra adventure "Gold Rush!" next autumn - first for PC, then a bit later for Mac OS X and mobile devices. To help ease the wait, the developer from Cologne, Germany, will release the original PC version this coming spring.

"Gold Rush!" - the remake

The new version of Sierra's adventure classic - a game that sold more than 1.3 million copies to date - will stay as true to the original as possible. With atmospheric up-to-date graphics, German speech and text as well as two different control methods and many other changes using the current state of technology the remake will attract both fans of the original and players who have never set foot into the classic adventure. Of course all of the challenging puzzles and locations will be included in the modern version that will deliver many hours of exciting entertainment, regardless of which of the three travel routes the player will take on his journey through the 19th century United States.

A greenhorn conquers the Wild West

"Gold Rush!" lets the player experience the time of gold diggers and treasure hunters. The unlikely hero of the game is Jerrod, a reporter. He is living an easy and comfortable life in Brooklyn, New York, when a mysterious letter takes him out of his routine: his long lost brother Jake asks him to travel to California immediately. While Jerrod prepares for the trip, news of a spectacular gold find in California breaks. Immediately, people are infected with the gold rush bug - and everybody tries to get there. The player controls Jerrod on an adventurous journey filled with puzzles and obstacles. Many roads lead to California - but will Jerrod reach his destination?

"Gold Rush!" will be released as a PC version in the fourth quarter of 2014 - first in Germany, then in other countries. Other versions of the game are planned as well, such as versions for Mac OS X and mobile devices.

The original PC version of "Gold Rush!" will be available in spring 2014.
