"Construction Playground" gets an update in Early Access!

Cologne, 09-15-2023 – Sunlight Games has released a new update for Construction Playground. After a long break, the update brings some optimizations, bug fixes and will also add more new content. Construction Playground has already been released on Steam in Virtual Reality Early Access. Another update will be released in November which will raise the game version to v0.6.

In the final basic game, players will be able to control a tower crane, tear down walls with a hammer and to build walls with individual bricks. Furthermore, formwork walls can be placed and concreted. Future DLC content will expand the construction site with new environments, missions and of course cool construction vehicles and tools, such as a crawler excavator and a crawler crane.

Sunlight Games is looking forward to adding ideas from the community to the game that are both meaningful and feasible.
